

Abstract of the Disclosure

A cabinet provided with light input/output holes accommodates a VIPA optical element, a lens, a fixing
5 material fixing the VIPA optical element. A temperature-controlled heater controls the temperature of and inside the cabinet. Both the light input and output holes of the cabinet are blocked by the fixing material and the lens, respectively, so that temperature 10 inside the cabinet is not influenced by the outside air.